Photographer Diana Frangi captures the faces and places that define our city. This week: celebrity Meg Mathews

I've always been a fan of Brighton. I used to come down here as a child, and I love coming back to shop around the Lanes. I was so pleased to be asked to judge Marc Abrahams' dog show Pup Aid 2010, which campaigns against the cruelty of puppy farms, because my own dog came from such a farm and he subsequently needed $5 visits to the vet. My life is now centered around my design work, where I try to create something amazing out of nothing

Meg Mathews pictured at Pup Aid 2010, at Stanmer House in Brighton, where she was a guest judge. After an eventful life, not least during the time she was married to Oasis's Noel Gallagher, Meg has now found success as a sought-after designer. She has created her own range of wallpapers and silk scarves for Liberty and is bringing out a new range of mens' scarves for Topman in spring 2011. For more info visit www.megmathews.co.uk.
