Telly Meg to tart up a brothel

EXCLUSIVE

by Alice Walker

ROCK chick Meg Mathews has landed a primetime property makeover show doing up a brothel.

The ex-wife of Oasis star Noel Gallagher will present Meg Mathews Tarts It Up on Channel 4 from next month.

Meg, 44, who runs an interior design company, has revamped celeb homes such as David and Victoria Beckham's mansion.

The former party planner also sells her own range of wallpaper at top London store Liberty's, as well as a furniture line called S&M.

Her new show will see her restore a dilapidated London townhouse to its former glory.

A source said: "Meg is over the moon about the whole thing – a prime time show on Channel 4 is a massive deal for her.

"It focuses on her doing up a run-down house and former brothel – turning it into a tasteful modern house.

"Meg will front the show and design the house from top to bottom – and she will also be hands-on in the renovation. She's not afraid of getting stuck in and getting her hands dirty."
